Privacy Policy

Thank you for visiting our website. This Privacy Policy describes what information about you is collected by us, what this data is used for, and with whom and under what conditions this data is shared with third parties. We also explain to you how we store your data and how we protect your data against misuse and what rights you have with regard to the personal data you provide us. Future of Work Foundation ("Future of Work") values your privacy and will always process your personal data in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation. Our privacy policy may be updated from time to time. This version is effective from 29 April 2021. If you have any questions about our privacy policy, please contact our Privacy officer at info@futureofwork.nl

Data processing

Which personal data do we process?

We may collect and process information in several ways: Information you give to us or our partners, such as name, home address, email address, and payment details; and Information we get from visits to our website, such as IP-addresses.

General purpose of the processing

We only use your data for the benefit of our services. This means that the purpose of the processing is always directly related to the assignment you provide. We do not use your data for (targeted) marketing. Your data will not be shared with third parties, other than to comply with accounting and other administrative obligations.

These third parties are all bound to secrecy on the basis of the agreement between them and us or an oath or legal obligation.

Automatically collected data

Data that is automatically collected by our website is processed with the aim of further improving our services. This data (e.g. your IP-address, web browser and operating system) are not personal data.

Cookies

Cookies allow us to calculate the aggregate number of people visiting our websites and to monitor how the website is being used. This helps us to improve our website to better serve our users.
